Antitrust Statement

The conference participants are a mix of competitors and customers and, therefore, all participants must act in accordance with the constraints of antitrust laws. There shall be no discussions of topics or agreements or concerted actions that may restrain competition. This prohibition includes any exchange of information about individual company prices, marketing practices, or any other competitive aspect of an individual company's operation. Each conference participant has an obligation to be aware of, and immediately object to, any topic or action that may involve potential antitrust concerns.
